Simon Kidston Joins Atlantic Tin as a Non-Executive Director

Atlantic Tin Ltd (“Atlantic Tin” or “the Company”), a leading developer of tin mining assets, is pleased to announce the appointment of Simon Kidston as a Non-Executive Director, effective immediately.

Simon Kidston brings a wealth of experience in corporate strategy, project development, and resource investment, having built a distinguished career in the mining, energy, and finance sectors. As a co-founder and executive director of Genex Power, he has been instrumental in advancing renewable energy projects across Australia. With a background in investment banking and a strong track record in capital markets, Mr. Kidston’s expertise will be invaluable as Atlantic Tin continues to progress its strategic initiatives and unlock the full potential of its tin assets.

Commenting on the appointment, Chairperson of Atlantic Tin Stephen Gill, said: “We are delighted to welcome Simon Kidston to the Board. His extensive experience in resource development and financing will provide invaluable guidance as we advance our projects and strengthen our position in the global tin market.”

Simon Kidston added: “I am excited to join Atlantic Tin at this pivotal time in its growth trajectory. The Company’s high-quality tin assets and strategic focus on sustainable development present a compelling opportunity, and I look forward to working with the Board and management team to drive value for shareholders.”

Atlantic Tin remains committed to responsible mining practices and the delivery of long-term value through the development of its assets. The appointment of Mr. Kidston further strengthens the Company’s leadership team as it navigates the next phase of growth.
